Fisk Student Brings Suit In Railroad Attack

Jaw Fractured When Beaten By Train Brakeman

CHICAGO—(ANP)—A suit was entered against the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway here by James W. Tyler, senior at Fisk University, Nashville, seeking heavy damages as result of the conduct of C. H. Morris, white, brakeman of the company who viciously attacked and broke Tyler's jaw. The incident occurred when Tyler was enroute to this city December 19 to visit his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gole.

According to Tyler's story, 30 students left Nashville, but Tyler and his roommate, Roscoe C. Bryant, Jr., of Tulsa, Okla., missed the train, and had to make connections with it later at Evansville, Ind. The two young men questioned Morris regarding the whereabouts of the students who had left the train and gone into the station.

Morris is reported to have said, "I'm not interested in your people, so get the hell outa here."

With the return of the group to the train, Tyler was approached by Morris in the vestibule of the coach and without warning knocked down. Before anything could be done, Morris fled to the next coach.

John Arrington, Harvey Proctor and Roscoe Bryant took Tyler in the coach where Morris had seated himself with Conductor Sears and asked for an explanation for the attack to which Morris declared, "I'll explain," and dealt Tyler another hammer-like blow to the jaw, breaking it.

No attempt by Conductor Sears was made to restrain Morris, but he wired ahead to Terre Haute to have a physician meet the train with four policemen to arrest Tyler. Police refused to arrest Tyler after hearing the facts of the case, but two of them rode to Chicago with the student to prevent trouble.

Upon arrival in the city, Dr. Edward Beasley was secured by the Coles to examine the student's jaw, which had swollen almost twice its size. The doctor's examination revealed that his jaw was badly splintered, deafness had set in the left ear, and the sight of his left eye was impaired. He was rushed to Provident Hospital where he remained 10 or more days for treatment. Tyler returned to school last week, but is still un-

Soldiers Arrested After Saturday Night Incident

Jackson police arrested several Negro soldiers from the Jackson Air Base here early this week, as a result of an incident in a North Farish Street Cafe, Saturday night.

The incident is reported to have arisen when a crowd of soldiers entered the cafe and resisted efforts of civilian police to clear them out, during which time several soldiers are said to have engaged in a tussle with the police officer.

Arrests were made at the Air Base following the incident when several women present in the cafe at the time identified the soldiers engaged in the incident. Another soldier was arrested in connection with the incident when Mildred Francis pointed him out to police as the soldier who had written a threatening letter to her and two other sisters, Robbie Lee and Jessie Lee Francis, because they had helped to identify the soldiers engaged in the Saturday night incident.

The soldier writing the threatening letter was confined in the guard house at the Air Base.

One Killed, One Brutally Beaten In E. Jackson

JACKSON, Miss.—George Dunbar, age 46, was shot to death, and another man was brutally beaten in fights that started at the "Shanty," an East Jackson night spot, Saturday night.

Although the place was crowded at the time of the shooting, investigating officers were unable to obtain any information regarding the shooting. With the arrest of Melvin Wilson in a local hospital, Monday, suffering from knife wounds when Wilson gave false information as to where he received the wounds, the police obtained information that led to his arrest as the murderer of Dunbar.

The shooting is thought to have resulted from an argument about a woman. Shortly before the shooting of Dunbar, a crowd at the Shanty attacked and brutally beat a young man whose identity could not be learned.

According to witnesses, the man was in such a state that he was unable to give any information as to his identity.

George Dunbar, the murdered man lay on the ground from midnight until morning awaiting the arrival of the coroner.

Army Officials Conduct Probe Of Bloody Clash

Woman Is Shot, Many Soldiers Sent to Hospital

ALEXANDRIA, La.—(S N S)—What about the $62,000 USO center for colored soldiers, one of the nation's finest, which is nearing completion here?

That's the big question making the rounds here since Saturday night's two-hour riot in which hundreds of soldiers and civilians were involved.

Some feel that the bloody clash between colored soldiers, colored and white civilians, white military policemen and civilian law enforcement officers may prevent the opening of the USO center.

High Army officials are reported here from Washington to conduct a complete investigation of the uncalculated street melee, but so far, there has been no comment from them.

ALEXANDRIA QUIET TUESDAY

Alexandria was quiet Tuesday night, but it was no secret that many of the citizens of this city resented the type of treatment suffered by the colored soldiers at the hands of white military policemen and civilian officers.

Many of the white people here resent the riot and have already declared that their businesses are suffering as the result of all colored soldiers being kept out of Alexandria.

The riot is alleged to have started when a white military policeman clubbed a colored soldier in front of the Ritz theatre located in the heart of the Negro district.

According to reports, the white M. P. claimed the colored soldier had refused to pay the admission fee to the theatre.

A fight followed after the soldier refused to be arrested. Following the fight, one white military police-

Report Shows Champ Has Paid $227,746 In Taxes

NEW YORK—(ANP)—Figures taken from certified copies of the U. S. Treasury department records and released by Co-Manager Julian Black, revealed that Joe Louis paid a total income tax of $227,746.79 during the first seven years of his professional career, 1934-40 inclusive. Of this amount, the federal government collected $192,867.59 and New York state, $34,879.20.

The first authentic report on Louis' income, showing it to be approximately $584,500 for the seven years, refutes general public opinion that Louis garnered a net share from his purses of over $2,000,000.

Year	Federal Tax	New York Tax	Total
1934	$ 49.69	$ 49.69	$ 99.38
1935	46,590.95	9,388.64	55,979.59
1936	38,334.58	4,563.27	42,897.85
1937	21,748.78	3,089.74	24,838.52
1938	42,975.80	11,503.80	54,479.60
1939	29,211.64	3,989.69	33,201.33
1940	13,956.14	2,344.19	16,300.33
Totals	$192,867.59	$34,879.20	$227,746.79

After deducting the New York state tax for each year, the champion's net income was approximately as follows:

Year	Net Income
1934	$ 2,500
1935	130,000
1936	110,000
1937	80,000
1938	117,000
1939	95,000
1940	50,000
Totals	$584,500

From this, a total federal income tax of $192,867 was deducted, leaving Louis $391,633 for his own use. His purses have, however, totaled close to $2,000,000, but his expenses are tremendous and his managers work on a 50 per cent contract, which accounts for the differences. Nevertheless, Joe has invested his money well, buying two apartment buildings, a Michigan farm and $100,000 in annuities. The farm is his largest real estate investment, which he is still improving. Money for the farm was obtained through his "bum-a-month" campaign of 1941.

According to Promoter Mike Ja-

With the deduction of federal taxes, Joe's income was whittled down to $391,633 for his 48 fights, in which he scored 40 kayoes, won seven by decisions and lost one.

Itemizing his personal income tax by years:

I asked him about helping the poor sailors by fighting this charity bout with Buddy Baer, all he asked was "When do I start training?" Great boy, that Joe."

Committee Of 100 Holds Meeting

The executive committee of the Committee of One Hundred met at Jackson College Saturday, January 10.

Several matters of importance, respecting Negro life in the State were discussed during the meeting.

Because of the severe cold weather the attendance was usually small. Prof. J. E. Johnson of Prentiss, Mississippi, the committee's chairman, presided at the meeting.

Camp Davis' Guest House Is Popular

CAMP DAVIS, N. C.—(S N S)—Outbreak of the war has greatly increased the number of people using the Camp Davis, N. C., guest house, according to a report by the Senior Hostess, Miss Ruby Satterfield, to the Commanding General.

During the month after December, 7,900 persons registered at the guest house. Most were from New England and the Middle West. Change of station for many soldiers and a substitution of 72-hour leaves for ten-day furloughs brought the folks down to see the soldiers who couldn't get home.

Since the guest house was opened last June 13, its 28 rooms have been used by 3127 people. The average stay of each guest was two days. The guest house has a particularly important place at Camp Davis because of the absence of and nearby facilities for visitors.

Guests at the camp have been given a variety of services. The service club staff has served as an from one to three phone calls for each guest. Camp Davis was the first camp in the country to offer supervised tours of the reservation.
